Foreword by the Chair of SACRE and the Agreed Syllabus Conference

I am delighted to be able to introduce the new Norfolk Agreed Syllabus for Religious Education, which becomes statutory for all maintained schools in Norfolk from September 2019.

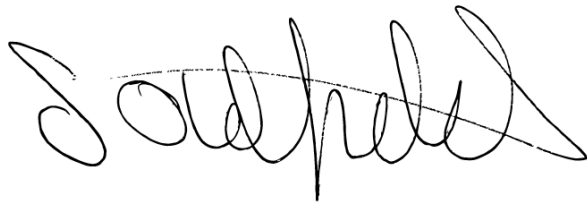

This new syllabus brings fresh and innovative thinking to the study of religious education (RE) in Norfolk schools. It is rooted in a vision for the subject which acknowledges the importance of religious and non-religious worldviews in all human life. As The Revd Dr John Hall maintains in his Foreword to the Commission on RE Report (2018):

RE is an essential area of study if pupils are to be well prepared for life in a world where controversy over such matters is pervasive and where people lack the knowledge to make their own informed decisions. It is a subject for all pupils, whatever their own family background and personal beliefs and practices.

This syllabus captures this vision and develops a curriculum with religious literacy at its heart. It is a syllabus which promotes a disciplinary-orientated academic study of religion and worldviews, and thus supports pupils' balanced understanding of the world in which they live. This new disciplinary approach is rooted in the work of Dr Kathryn Wright (Independent RE Consultant) who has worked with a number of other advisers including, Mrs Jane Chipperton, Mrs Kate Christopher, Mrs Gillian Georgiou, Dr Richard Kueh and Mrs Olivia Seymour. The formation of this Agreed Syllabus has also been supported by Mrs Kate Christopher.

This Agreed Syllabus is a significant departure from that of 2005 and 2012. It establishes RE as a multi-disciplinary subject for the first time.

I would like to pay tribute to the hard work of all those involved and commend this syllabus to you.

Simon Oldfield
Chair of SACRE and the Agreed Syllabus Conference

Introduction

The Norfolk Agreed Syllabus 2019 charts a new way forward for RE, placing the subject within strong academic disciplinary traditions. This syllabus builds on the enquiry-based pedagogy advocated in 2012 but aims to raise expectations of both teachers and pupils in terms of the scholarly study of religion and worldviews. This syllabus is part of an ongoing discourse within the RE community¹ and provides a framework for continued discussion as teachers build their curriculum around this new approach.²

A school's RE curriculum should be set within the broader intent of the whole school curriculum. This syllabus is designed to support school leaders by clearly stating the intent, appropriate implementation and potential impact of RE on the lives of children and young people so that they can flourish in a changing world.

The Purpose of RE

Purpose of Study statement

High-quality RE will support pupils' religious literacy. In the context of this syllabus, being religiously literate means that pupils will have the ability to hold balanced and well-informed conversations about religion and worldviews.³ Pupils will be able to make sense of religion and worldviews around them and begin to understand the complex world in which they live. RE is primarily about enabling pupils to become free thinking, critical participants of public discourse, who can make academically informed judgements about important matters of religion and belief which shape the global landscape.⁴

Aims

- To know about and understand a range of religious and non-religious worldviews by learning to see these through theological, philosophical and human/social science lenses.
- To express ideas and insights about the nature, significance and impact of religious and non-religious worldviews through a multi-disciplinary approach.
- To gain and deploy skills rooted in theology, philosophy and the human/social sciences engaging critically with religious and non-religious worldviews.⁵

Pupils' progress is assessed in relation to the purpose and aims of the subject. Therefore, this primarily concerns how well pupils are able to hold balanced and well-informed conversations about religion and worldviews. In other words, are pupils becoming more religiously literate? Attainment and progress are therefore linked to the multi-disciplinary approach to RE advocated throughout this syllabus.

This syllabus acknowledges recommendations for curriculum design in the Commission on RE Report (2018). Whilst the suggested National Entitlement contained in the report⁶ is not a foundational principle for the syllabus outlined here, there is synergy between what is proposed and the focus on *'the different ways in which religion and worldviews can be understood, interpreted and studied, including through a wide range of academic disciplines and through direct encounter and discussion with individuals and communities who hold these worldviews.'*⁷

5 These aims are based on those found in The Non-Statutory National Framework for RE (2013)

6 Commission on RE Report pp.12–13

7 Commission on RE Report p.13

Statutory Requirements for the Provision of RE

The primary legislation passed with regard to RE between 1944 and 1993 was consolidated by The Education Act (1996) and the School Standards and Framework Act (1998). Circular 1/94 and the subsequent revision of this guidance in 2010 (Religious Education in English Schools: Non-Statutory Guidance 2010) offered an interpretation of the legislation.

The legal requirements are:

1. RE must be provided for all registered pupils in full time education except those withdrawn at their parents' request. [S352 (1) (a)]

- The law relating to RE for pupils who are not yet in Key Stage One is different from that relating to subjects of the National Curriculum. As RE must be taught to 'all registered pupils at the school', it includes pupils in reception classes, but not those in nursery classes or play groups.
- By the same law, RE must be provided for all students in school sixth forms (but not those in Sixth Form Colleges, which must provide RE for all students wishing to receive it).
- Special schools must comply with this requirement by ensuring that every pupil receives RE as far as is practicable.⁸

2. RE must be taught in accordance with an Agreed Syllabus in Community schools, Foundation schools and Voluntary Controlled schools. However, in Foundation and Voluntary Controlled Schools with a religious foundation, parents may request RE in accordance with the school's trust deed, or in accordance with the beliefs or denomination specified in the designation of the school.⁹

In Voluntary Aided schools with a religious character, RE is taught in accordance with the Trust Deed, or with the beliefs or denomination specified in the designation of the school, to reflect the religious character of the foundation. A governing body may accept a recommendation from their Diocese to adopt the Locally Agreed Syllabus.

City Technology Colleges, Academies and Free Schools are independent schools; however, as a condition of grant funding, they are required to make provision for RE.

For denominational Academies with a religious character (Church of England or Roman Catholic, but also Muslim and most Jewish academies), the RE curriculum will be in line with the denominational syllabus.

For non-denominational (such as Christian) faith Academies, the curriculum may be in accordance with the Agreed Syllabus or a denominational syllabus, depending on the wishes of the sponsor and what is agreed by Government Ministers.

⁸ See Appendix 3

⁹ 1996 Act, Ch 56, S376 (1); 1998 Act, Ch 31 S351 (1); The Designation of Schools Having a Religious Character (England) Order 1999

For City Technology Colleges, Academies and Free Schools without a religious character, it is good practice and government recommendation for these schools to use the principles of the Locally Agreed Syllabus for their RE.¹⁰

3.A Locally Agreed Syllabus must reflect the fact ‘that the religious traditions in Great Britain are in the main Christian, while taking account of the teaching and practices of the other principal religions represented in Great Britain’. [1996 Act, Ch 56 S375 (3).]

4. In schools where an Agreed Syllabus applies, RE must be non-denominational, but teaching about denominational differences is permitted. [Education Act 1944 S26 (2)]

5. The Head Teacher, along with the governing body and the Local Authority, is responsible for the provision of RE in Foundation and Community Maintained schools and in Voluntary Controlled schools. (See Para. 2 above).

Reporting on pupils’ progress and attainment

Schools are required to provide an annual report for parents on the attainment and progress of each child in RE.

Withdrawal from RE¹¹

A parent of a pupil may request:

- that their child be wholly or partly excused from receiving RE given in accordance with the Agreed Syllabus.
- that a pupil who is wholly or partly excused from receiving RE provided by the school may receive RE of the kind desired by the parent elsewhere, provided that it will not interfere with the attendance of the pupil on any day except at the beginning or end of a school session.
- that a pupil who is wholly or partly excused from receiving RE provided by the school may receive RE of the kind desired by the parent on the school premises provided that it does not entail any expenditure by the responsible authority.

¹⁰ “The Funding Agreement requires that Academies that do not have a religious designation must arrange for Religious Education to be given to all pupils in accordance with the requirements for agreed syllabuses. In other words, a curriculum which reflects that the religious traditions in Great Britain are, in the main Christian, while taking account of the teaching and practices of the other principal religions represented in Great Britain”. DFE response to NATRE request for guidance 8 February 2011.

¹¹ Schools should have procedures in place to facilitate such withdrawals when required.

A teacher may not be:

- required to teach RE (although this may not be the case in a school with a religious foundation).
- discriminated against for their religious opinions or practices.

RE as part of the basic curriculum

RE supports the aims of the school curriculum¹² which is to be balanced and broadly based. This curriculum must:

- Promote the spiritual, moral, cultural, mental and physical development of pupils at the school and of society.
- Prepare pupils at the school for the opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of later life.

The purpose of RE is to develop religious literacy. The essential outcomes for RE are therefore related to the knowledge and understanding of religion and worldviews. There are many other desirable outcomes for RE. For example, the subject may also contribute significantly to the following broader educational aims but is distinct from and not reducible to these:

- Spiritual, moral, social and cultural development
- Personal, social, health and citizenship education
- Reading and writing
- Vocabulary development
- Spoken language
- Numeracy and mathematics
- British Values¹³
- The Prevent Duty¹⁴

Norfolk, all Community and Voluntary Controlled schools will meet the legal requirements for RE where they implement the Norfolk Agreed Syllabus 2019. These schools are not at liberty to plan and teach RE from any other basis. This becomes statutory for these schools with effect from September 2019.

Independent schools in Norfolk, such as academies, are invited to use this syllabus.

The Rationale for the Norfolk Agreed Syllabus

RE as multi-disciplinary

RE is about developing religious literacy, therefore this syllabus promotes an understanding of religion and worldviews which best fulfils this purpose. This is one rooted in a multi-disciplinary understanding of the subject. This provides a balanced diet ensuring that pupils are seeing religion and worldviews through different lenses, and places RE within a strong, and well-established academic tradition.

What do we mean by a discipline?

A discipline is widely understood to have:

- An intellectual history/tradition which is manifested institutionally through higher education
- A body of knowledge founded on core concepts and theories
- A particular object of research/investigation, although this might be shared across disciplines
- Specific terminology and language to define and explain concepts
- Research methods and modes of enquiry according to its specific requirements
- A specific stance towards the nature of reality (i.e. views the world through a particular lens)
- Particular grounds upon which valid truth claims are made/ways of validating knowledge (epistemology)
- A group of intellectual followers (academics) who conduct new research in that discipline and bring changes to it over time

What do we mean by multi-disciplinary?

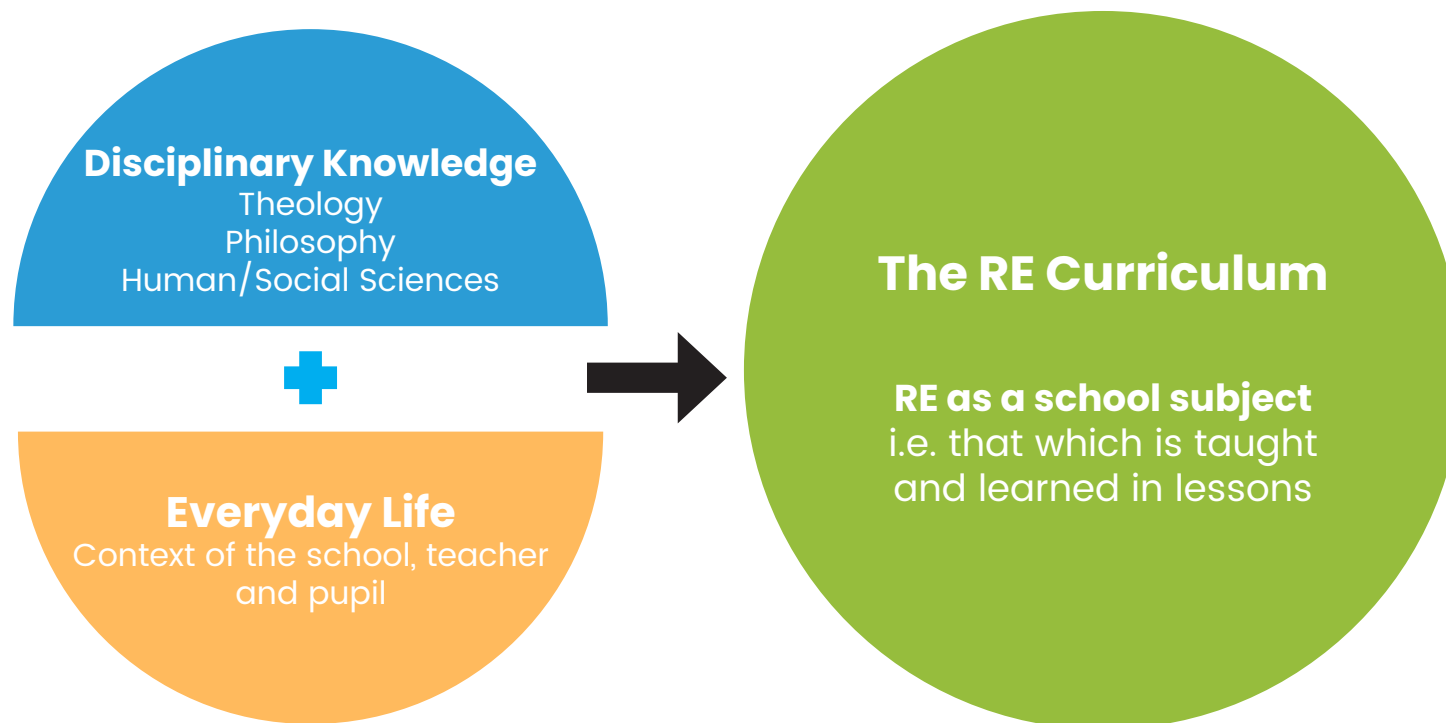

RE as an academic school curriculum subject is not itself a single discipline; instead it is rooted in a range of different disciplines or disciplinary fields. We need to understand which disciplines it draws on in order to understand the object of investigation and the research methods to employ in RE. This ensures that content chosen for RE is appropriate and well-established within academic traditions and ensures that pupils use and develop a range of subject-specific skills.

How do we understand RE as a multi-disciplinary subject?

In this syllabus we assert that RE is rooted in three key disciplines or disciplinary fields. These are theology, philosophy and the human/social sciences. In this syllabus they are re-contextualised for the school context in the following ways:

Theology	Philosophy	Human/Social Sciences
We have called this thinking through believing. It is about asking questions that believers would ask. It requires pupils to think like theologians, or to look at concepts through a theological lens. Pupils will explore questions and answers that arise from inside religions and worldviews.	We have called this thinking through thinking. It is about asking questions that thinkers would ask. It requires pupils to think like philosophers, or to look at concepts through a philosophical lens. Pupils will explore questions and answers raised through considering the nature of knowledge, existence and morality.	We have called this thinking through living. It is about asking questions that people who study lived reality or phenomena would ask. It requires pupils to think like human and social scientists, or to look at concepts through a human/social science lens. Pupils will explore questions and answers raised in relation to the impact of religions and worldviews on people and their lives.

We have defined these three academic disciplines or disciplinary fields to make them appropriate for the school setting.

Subjects are re-contextualised from disciplines which are a society's primary source of new knowledge. The link between subjects and disciplines provides the best guarantee we have that the knowledge acquired by students at school does not rely solely on the authority of the individual teacher, but on the teacher as a member of a specialist subject community.

Michael Young: Overcoming the crisis in curriculum theory: a knowledge-based approach. Journal of Curriculum Studies, 45:2, pp.101–118

What do we mean by the disciplines of theology, philosophy and the human/social sciences?¹⁵

The following three tables set out in more detail how each of these disciplines can be understood. They show the academic foundations of each discipline, their distinct ways of understanding the world, the methods they use and the body of knowledge which teachers can draw upon. They also show what the object of investigation for each discipline looks like in a school context and provide prompts for teachers and pupils to engage with the intellectual communities relating to each discipline.

Theology

We are using the phrase: Thinking through believing

Lens through which the world is viewed	Research methods and ways of validating knowledge	Body of knowledge	Object of investigation within a school context	Intellectual community with which teachers and pupils can engage
Looking through the theological lens is primarily about exploring the world ontologically i.e it is about existence, being and how these relate to notions of transcendental reality	For example: Interpretation Authority Authenticity Reliability Internal consistency and coherency of texts Exegesis: critical explanation or interpretation of text Hermeneutics: interpretation of text	This includes: Textual theology: theological content of a particular genre Historical theology: developments of doctrine and controversies Systematic theology: organisation of concepts and themes in a religion Philosophical theology: nature of reality, the possibility of knowing God Comparative Theology: study of different beliefs Pastoral or Practical Theology: critical reflections on actions in light of beliefs Mystical Theology: reflections on the lived experience of God	Theology enables pupils to grapple with questions that have been raised by religions and worldviews over the centuries. It looks at where beliefs come from, how they have changed over time, how they are applied differently in different contexts and how they relate to each other. It involves investigating key texts and traditions within different religions and worldviews. It explores the ways in which they have been used as authoritative for believers and the ways in which they have been challenged, interpreted and disregarded over time. It assesses the key beliefs of religions and worldviews as well as exploring the significance of experience on the claims made by religious and non-religious people.	For example: Theology and Divinity Departments Departments specialising, for example, in Islamic, Jewish, Hindu studies Theos Think Tank TRS-UK

¹⁵ A glossary is provided in the appendices to explain some of the key terms in this section.

Philosophy

We are using the phrase: Thinking through thinking.

Lens through which the world is viewed	Research methods and ways of validating knowledge	Body of knowledge	Object of investigation within a school context	Intellectual community with which teachers and pupils can engage
Looking through the philosophical lens is primarily about exploring the world epistemologically, logically and ethically i.e it is about the nature of knowledge and morality.	For example: Logic Reason Use of evidence and sources Insight (e.g. in some Eastern philosophies)	This includes: Philosophy of Religion: Beliefs about God, nature of good and evil, religious experience, ethical implications of belief Metaphysics: dealing with abstract concepts such as being, knowing, identity, time, space, truth, reality. Ethical theory and practice relating to this theory.	Philosophy enables pupils to grapple with questions that have been raised and answers about knowledge, existence and morality. It is about finding out how and whether things make sense. It deals with questions of morality and ethics. It takes seriously questions about reality, knowledge and existence. The process of reasoning lies at the heart of philosophy. Philosophy is less about coming up with answers to difficult questions and more about the process of how we try to answer them. Studying the works of great philosophers is part of developing an understanding of philosophy. It uses dialogue, discussion and debate to refine the way in which we think about the world and our place in it. Philosophy contains three fields of enquiry which are applicable to a balanced framework for RE. These are metaphysics, logic and moral philosophy.	For example: Philosophy Departments in Universities The Philosophy Foundation The Royal Institute of Philosophy British Philosophical Association

Human and Social Sciences

We are using the phrase: Thinking through living.

Lens through which the world is viewed	Research methods and ways of validating knowledge	Body of knowledge	Object of investigation within a school context	Intellectual community with which teachers and pupils can engage
Looking through this lens is about exploring the wider human questions raised by and about religion and worldviews, such as about belonging, exclusion, community, identity, plurality and power. It is about lived experience now and through history. The term often used for this is phenomenology, the study of phenomena.	Quantative and Qualitative research such as: Ethnography Use of empirical data Linguistics Observation Classification Interviews Survey and questionnaire Case studies Listening to the voices of others/focus groups	This includes: A collection of different disciplines, each with its own intellectual history, body of knowledge and so on. Here we are concerned with the body of knowledge related to religion, belief and worldviews contained within: History Geography Sociology Political Science Anthropology Psychology Law	The human/social sciences enable pupils to grapple with questions about the lived and diverse reality of religion and worldviews in the world. It explores the diverse ways in which people practise their beliefs. It engages with the impact of beliefs on individuals, communities and societies. Pupils will investigate the ways in which religions and worldviews have shaped and continue to shape societies around the world. This approach can promote better understanding of the ways in which religion and worldviews influence people's understanding of power, gender, compassion, and so on. It also enables pupils to consider the nature of religion itself and the diverse ways in which people understand the term 'religion'.	For example: Faith and Civil Societies Unit: Goldsmiths, University of London The Cambridge Inter-Faith Programme, University of Cambridge The Woolf Institute, University of Cambridge Warwick Religions and Education Research Unit, University of Warwick

How do we create an RE curriculum based on this multi-disciplinary approach?

In order that pupils can become religiously literate, it is asserted that an approach in RE that balances these disciplines is adopted. This will effectively prepare pupils for their studies in Key Stage 4 and beyond. In addition, this approach helps pupils to become well-informed and hold balanced views because they will have had the opportunity to gain a real breadth and depth of understanding and use a range of different methods to validate knowledge across the disciplines.

The Agreed Syllabus ensures that pupils have a balanced approach rooted in these disciplines by:

- Providing suggested core questions for each Key Stage relating to each of the three disciplinary lenses, in order to ensure there is a balance between the three disciplines in each phase of learning (i.e. Key Stage 1, Lower Key Stage 2, Upper Key Stage 2, Key Stage 3)
- Providing a core body of knowledge to be investigated which is rooted in each academic discipline, but contextualised for the school setting

Effective RE will balance these three disciplinary lenses in order for pupils to become more religiously literate.

Which religions and worldviews do we need to study in each Key Stage?¹⁶

Key Stage	EYFS	Key Stage 1	Key Stage 2	Key Stage 3 (Pre-GCSE)	Key Stage 4	Key Stage 5

NB: 'In-depth investigation' means that these religions and/or worldviews are studied in detail. They are the focus of study in the particular key stage. A suggested percentage is given below. 'Encountering' means that aspects of this religion or worldview are studied in less detail. It may be referred to, but not studied in depth.

¹⁶ In order to reflect legislation and to provide a broad and balanced curriculum, the following religions and worldviews form the basis of the rationale set out here:

Christianity should be studied at each key stage to 'reflect the fact that the religious traditions in Great Britain are in the main Christian' (Education Act 1988)

Other principal religions represented in Great Britain (usually regarded as Buddhism, Hinduism, Islam, Judaism and Sikhism) should be studied across the key stages; although they do not have to be studied in equal depth, nor all of them in each key stage

Other worldviews may be studied such as, the Baha'i faith, Jainism, Zoroastrianism and Humanism.

Weighting of religions and beliefs	No weighting is specified in EYFS.	More time should be spent on Christianity than any other individual religion or worldview. RE in Early Years Foundation Stage

All schools and academies should provide RE for all registered pupils, including those in Reception classes. The statutory requirement does not extend to nursery classes in maintained schools. In order to prepare pupils for the balanced disciplinary approach, the following suggested content is recommended for Early Years Foundation Stage.

Designing a progressive, coherent and balanced curriculum for Key Stages 1, 2 and 3

Step One: Religions and worldviews

- Check the requirements for each Key Stage.
- Decide which religions and worldviews you will explore. Ensure you have a clear rationale and that you have taken account of your school context and the appropriate weighting for each religion or worldview.

Step Two: The suggested core questions

For each key stage there are suggested core questions, found on page 19

- Each question draws on one particular disciplinary lens.
- Choosing a spread of questions from each discipline will ensure balance across the key stage phase.
- You can create your own questions, but these should use one of the disciplines as a driver
- For schools using the non-statutory age-related expectations, we recommend that you choose about 4-5 questions to explore per year with pupils at least one question from each discipline per year.

Step Three: Ensuring continuity and progression

- Check that the core questions going through each year group progress logically from one to another.¹⁷ We recommend you consider the intent of your whole-school curriculum when ensuring continuity and progression. How does the RE curriculum relate to your wider whole-school curriculum?
- We suggest you check for progression from one year to another. Are the questions enabling increasing depth of understanding? Are pupils developing their understanding through each disciplinary lens logically?

Step Four: The core knowledge and non-statutory age-related expectations

- Once you have decided upon your core questions, you need to shape the learning by using the core knowledge.
- For each core question consider the relevant core knowledge and either the non-statutory age-related expectations for the disciplinary lens you are focusing on or your own school's assessment criteria in order create learning outcomes for this question. This ensures the learning is planned at an appropriate standard
- Clearly delineate between the core knowledge which will form the basis of assessment and other elements of core knowledge which may be encountered in the learning process but may not be assessed.

Step Five: Check for balance

- Ensure you have a balance of disciplinary lenses. If appropriate, are you enabling pupils to meet the age-related expectations?

Step Six: Creating your scheme of learning

- Use the core question, learning outcomes and core knowledge to create a series of lessons that enable the pupils to be able to meet the outcomes, and thus contribute to them meeting the non-statutory age-related expectations¹⁸ if appropriate.

17 An exemplar long-term plan is provided in Appendix I.

18 There are a suite of unit outlines in the Agreed Syllabus Guidance material

Suggested Core Questions

The suggested core questions are rooted in each disciplinary approach, namely theology, philosophy and the human/social sciences. They take account of the research methods used in each discipline and its object of investigation. These core questions are suggestions, and schools can create their own questions if they choose as long as they reflect the disciplinary approach. Schools must ensure a balance of questions across the three disciplinary lenses.

The following points may be noted:

- The questions are largely generic so they can be tailored to any religion or worldview. Some questions could be used more than once if they focus on a different religion or worldview each time.
- Some questions may be combined across disciplinary lenses to create a longer unit of work. For example, the concept of resurrection in Christianity could be explored in terms of interrogation of biblical narratives (Theology), consideration as to whether resurrection is reasonable (Philosophy) and how belief in resurrection impacts on individuals, communities and societies across the world (Human/Social sciences). The Noble Eightfold Path in Buddhism could be explored in terms of theological interpretations by different schools of Buddhist thought, the Buddhist understanding of reality and the ethical implications of the Eightfold Path, and how the Path shapes Buddhist identity and relationships with others.
- Some specific Christian examples have been given at each Key Stage as this religion is taught by all schools in all Key Stages.
- The suggested core questions take into account Understanding Christianity (RE Today 2016) units on God, creation, incarnation and salvation which are already being used in a number of schools and academies in the county. These are shown in purple.
- It is NOT intended that all these questions are explored. They are suggestions and schools can tailor them to their own context and create their own questions if they prefer.
- An exemplar long-term plan is available in Appendix I.

Core Knowledge Summary Tables

The core knowledge should be used alongside the suggested core questions for each disciplinary lens. The core knowledge has been kept to a minimum to allow teachers to consider their own context and to ensure depth of understanding of key concepts, beliefs and practices. The core knowledge is rooted in the object of investigation for each disciplinary lens.

The core knowledge draws particularly on the following documents:

- Norfolk Agreed Syllabus 2005: Guidance materials
- Norfolk Agreed Syllabus 2012: Guidance materials
- Understanding Christianity 2016 (RE Today Services)

Core Knowledge is set out for Christianity, five principal religions (Buddhism, Hinduism, Islam, Judaism, Sikhism) and one non-religious worldview (Humanism). This does not preclude other religions and worldviews being studied e.g. Baha'i, Jainism, Zoroastrianism.

An example of how the core questions and core knowledge can be used to create learning enquiries:

Key Stage: Lower Key Stage 2

Disciplinary Focus: Theology

Religion or Worldview: Hinduism

Core Question: How do Hindus talk about God?

Core Knowledge: Brahman, and the concept of the trimurti (Brahma, Vishnu, Shiva). Examples of the avatars of Vishnu such as Rama and Krishna. Narratives from the Ramayana (about Rama), Mahabharata and Vishnu Purana (about Krishna)

Possible questions that teachers might ask pupils to develop their understanding:

Do Hindus understand God as one or many? What does it mean to say God came in human form? What do Hindus learn about God from the narratives about Rama and Krishna?

If appropriate, based on the non-statutory age-related expectations (see Appendix 2), pupils should be able to:

Identify the sources Hindus use when talking about God

Give examples of different ways in which Hindus talk about God based on the narratives they have studied

Identify the similarities and differences between the Hindu understanding of God and one other religious view e.g. Christian understanding of God as Trinity.

These tables provide a basis for teachers to shape schemes of learning using the suggested core questions. Tables for religions and worldviews are listed alphabetically.

RE for students aged 14–19

RE is a statutory entitlement for all registered pupils up to the age of 18, including pupils in school sixth forms, except where withdrawn by their parents, or by themselves if over 18 years of age.

This syllabus advocates a three year Key Stage 3 (i.e Years 7-9) RE curriculum as best practice. However, some of the core knowledge from Key Stage 4 (i.e. Years 10-11) may be introduced in Key Stage 3 to help pupils make connections in their learning, such as key concepts in a religion or how religious practices are understood within their historical context. This will enable pupils to use in-depth analysis in Key Stage 3 and prepare them well for Key Stage 4.

In Years 10 and 11 a core course must be provided for all students to meet their entitlement to RE. Whilst there is no legal requirement to sit public examinations, students deserve the opportunity, as far as possible, to have their learning in RE accredited. External accreditation of the subject in this key stage improves student achievement and enhances the status of the subject. Therefore, this syllabus requires pupils to follow an accredited course in RE which is provided by a recognised exam board¹⁹, and which builds on the multi-disciplinary approach advocated in EYFS to Key Stage 3.

In the sixth form, the RE provided should enhance and broaden educational opportunities for all students. It should meet the needs of both one and two-year students. The nature and organisation of the sixth form curriculum is such that great flexibility should be possible in how RE is delivered. It is important that students take increasing responsibility for their own learning. They might be encouraged to participate in planning courses and, where a variety of options is offered, could negotiate their entitlement. Schools should therefore provide an accredited course, such as AS or A Level Religious Studies, or one which requires a significant study of a world religion or engagement with religious or philosophical ideas or a minimum of 15 hours of study of religious, ethical and philosophical topics through a choice of regular timetabled lessons, enrichment activities, group projects, field trips or day conferences.

¹⁹ Therefore, a course which can lead to a qualification approved under Section 96 of the Learning and Skills Act 2000

Attainment and Progress in RE

Assessing attainment and progress

Pupils' progress is assessed in relation to the purpose and aims of the subject. Therefore, this primarily concerns how well pupils are able to hold balanced and well-informed conversations about religion and worldviews. In other words, are pupils becoming more religiously literate? Attainment and progress are therefore linked to the multi-disciplinary approach to RE advocated throughout this syllabus.

Although this syllabus does not provide a statutory form of monitoring standards and progress, teachers should ensure that the rationale they use both fits their school context, phase of learning and strives for high standards of attainment for all pupils.

Assessment at the heart of planning

Therefore, teachers are encouraged to use the non-statutory age-related expectations as a starting point for planning (See Appendix 2) alongside a suggested core questions for Key Stages 1–3. This ensures that expected outcomes are at an appropriate standard and that the learning journey for each enquiry is clear.

The non-statutory age-related expectations ensure that the RE provision is balanced and that pupils become more religiously literate through their time in school.²⁰ A sample of the non-statutory age-related expectations is provided in Appendix 2. Schools and academies in Norfolk can register with the Diocese of Norwich to receive a full set of expectations and exemplar material if they wish. This service is provided free to all schools and academies in Norfolk using this syllabus.²¹

Reporting of attainment and progress

It is a statutory requirement for schools to provide, at least annually, a written report to parents on their child's progress in RE.²²

SACRE may ask schools to submit a summary of attainment by pupils at the end of Key Stages 2 and 3 as part of its responsibility to monitor RE in Norfolk. In addition, progress must be assessed and reported where pupils transfer between schools at other points. SACRE also monitors Key Stage 4 and 5 examination results annually.

²⁰ Teachers are free to develop their own system of assessment if the non-statutory age-related expectations do not match their context.

Teaching and Learning in RE

This syllabus builds on the enquiry-based approach advocated in the Norfolk Agreed Syllabus 2012.²³

This enquiry-based approach is set within a climate of effective learning in RE where:

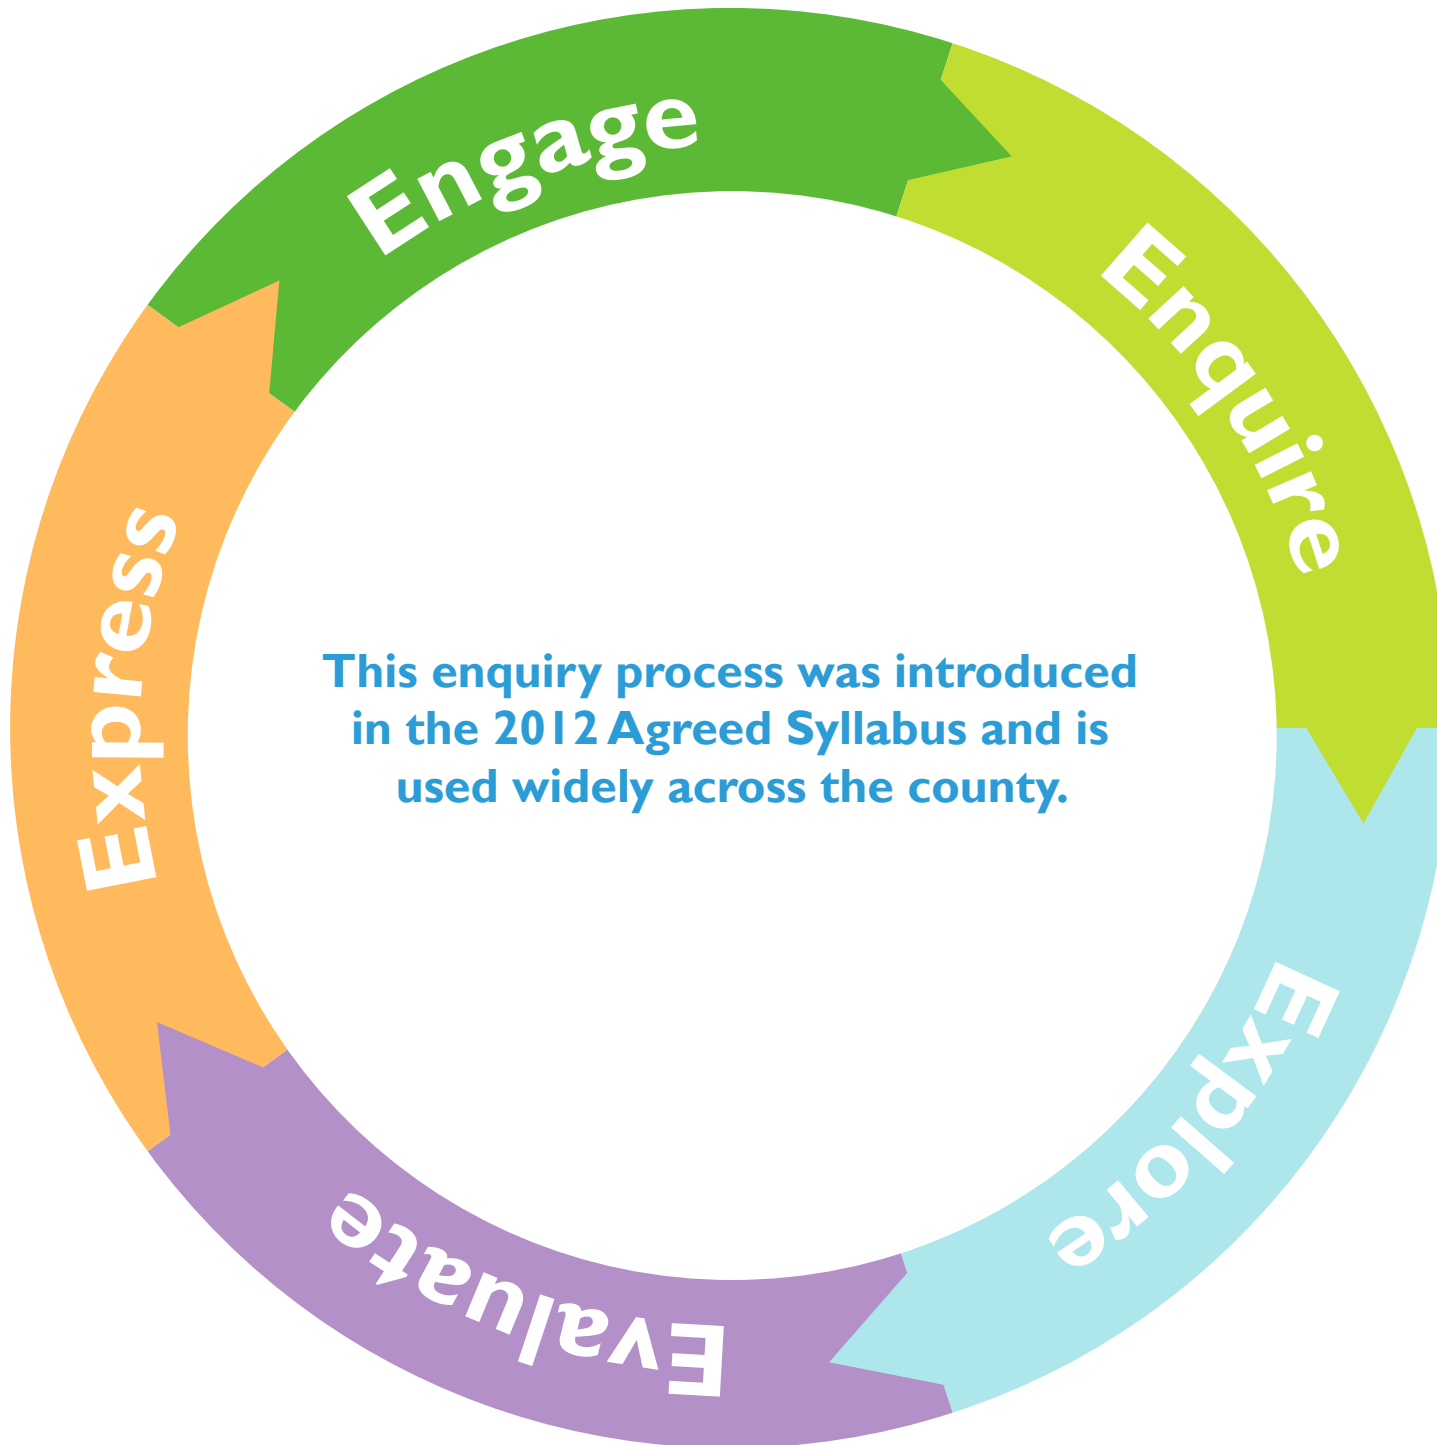

- an appropriate level of challenge is provided for all pupils
- all pupils know they can achieve and there is an expectation of success
- the learning is set in a real and authentic context, with a clear purpose, meaning and relevance
- a safe environment is created where all pupils are valued, so they can confidently agree to disagree and express themselves freely
- pupils have a sense of ownership over what is being learned and how they are learning it
- there is a clear learning journey and identifiable outcomes
- there is space and time for reflection
- assessment for learning is at the heart of teacher planning

This syllabus continues to promote the following enquiry process as best practice:

An enquiry-based approach for RE

- | | |
|-----------------|--|
| Engage | Stage 1: The new enquiry is introduced by exploring the conceptual focus and core question. |
| Enquire | Stage 2: The enquiry is co-constructed with the pupils whilst staying within the parameters of the learning outcomes. |

Appendix I: Exemplar Curriculum Map for KSI–3²⁴

Context: This exemplar imagines a primary school where the Jewish tradition is the second religion focus for KSI, and Islam and Hinduism are the focus at KS2 alongside Christianity in both Key Stages. In Key Stage 3 pupils are prepared for a GCSE where they will study Christianity and Islam. In addition, at Key Stage 3 Sikhism is included as a focus religion.

The balance between Theology, Philosophy and Human/Social Sciences is shown through the colours.

Appendix 2: Non- Statutory age-related expectations showing examples for Key Stage 1-3²⁵

Theology

There are four strands for theology:

- where beliefs come from
- how beliefs change over time
- how beliefs relate to each other
- how beliefs shape the way believers see the world

The example below is for the first of these strands.

Strand	Year 1	Year 2	Year 3	Year 4	Year 5	Year 6	Year 7	Year 8	Year 9
Where beliefs come from	Give a clear, simple account of at least one narrative, story or important text used by at least one religion or worldview.	Retell a narrative, story or important text from at least one religion or worldview and recognise a link with a belief. Recognise different types of writing from within one text.	Show awareness of different sources of authority and how they link with beliefs. Identify different types of writing and give an example of how a believer might interpret a source of authority.	Identify different sources of authority and how they link with beliefs. Give examples of different writings and different ways in which believers interpret sources of authority.	Describe different sources of authority and how they link with beliefs. Describe a range of different interpretations of sources of authority and consider the reliability of these sources for a group of believers.	Explain different sources of authority and the connections with beliefs. Begin to discuss the reliability and authenticity of texts that are authoritative for a group of believers.	Begin to analyse and evaluate different sources of authority, considering the writings of key thinkers, and how these have shaped and formed beliefs. Begin to analyse a range of genres and interpretations of sources of authority applying knowledge of reliability of sources when enquiring into religions and worldviews.	Begin to contextualise and evaluate sources of authority including the writings of a range of key thinkers and how these have shaped and formed beliefs. Begin to evaluate a range of genres and interpretations of sources of authority applying knowledge of authenticity, historical accuracy and authorship coherently and competently when enquiring into religions and worldviews.	Contextualise, analyse and evaluate where beliefs come from using evidence relating to sources of authority, teachings and interpretations, the writing of key thinkers and the impact of experiences. Contextualise, analyse and evaluate propositions about the reliability, authenticity, historical accuracy and authorship of sources when enquiring into religions and worldviews.

Philosophy

There are three strands for philosophy:

- the nature of knowledge, meaning and existence
- how and whether things make sense
- Issues of right and wrong, good and bad

The example below is for the second of these strands.

Strand	Year 1	Year 2	Year 3	Year 4	Year 5	Year 6	Year 7	Year 8	Year 9
How and whether things make sense	Give a simple reason using the word 'because' when talking about religion and belief.	Give a reason to say why someone might hold a particular belief using the word 'because'.	Decide if a reason or argument based on a religion or belief makes sense to them and is expressed clearly. Use more than one reason to support their view.	Begin to weigh up whether different reasons and arguments are expressed coherently when studying religion and belief. Give reasons for more than one point of view, providing pieces of evidence to support these views.	Explain, using a range of reasons, whether a position or argument is coherent and logical. Link a range of different pieces of evidence together to form a coherent argument.	Begin to analyse and evaluate whether a position or argument is coherent and logical, and show increasing awareness of divergence of opinion. Use well-chosen pieces of evidence to support and counter a particular argument.	Analyse and evaluate whether a position or argument is coherent and logical, explaining with reasons any divergence of opinion. Use principles, analogies and well-researched evidence to support a particular argument and counter this view.	Analyse and evaluate whether a position or argument is coherent and logical, explaining with reasons any divergence of opinion and showing increasing awareness of the impact of culture and society on this position. Demonstrate comprehensive evidence of the process of reasoning when forming an argument and when creating counter arguments, showing awareness of their own cultural assumptions.	Comprehensively assess whether a range of positions or arguments are coherent and logical, evaluating their validity and significance and explaining conclusions with reasons and evidence. Create and test their own and others well substantiated arguments or hypotheses drawing conclusions based on the process of reasoning.

Human/Social Sciences

There are three strands for human/social sciences:

- The diverse nature of religion
- Diverse ways in which people practice and express beliefs
- The ways in which beliefs shape individual identity, and impact on communities and society and vice versa

The example below is for the third of these strands.

Strand	Year 1	Year 2	Year 3	Year 4	Year 5	Year 6	Year 7	Year 8	Year 9
The ways in which beliefs shape individual identity, and impact on communities and society and vice versa	Recognise that beliefs can have an impact on a believer's daily life, their family or local community.	Identify ways in which beliefs can have an impact on a believer's daily life, their family or local community.	Identify a range of ways in which beliefs can have an impact on a believer's daily life, their family, community and society.	Describe ways in which beliefs can impact on and influence individual lives, communities and society and show awareness of how individuals, communities and society can also shape beliefs.	Explain how beliefs impact on and influence individual lives, communities and society, and how individuals, communities and society can also shape beliefs.	Begin to analyse and evaluate how beliefs impact on, influence and change individual lives, communities and society, and how individuals, communities and society can also shape beliefs.	Analyse and evaluate how beliefs impact on, shape and change individual lives, communities and society, and how individuals, communities and society can also shape beliefs.	Begin to contextualise and evaluate the impact of beliefs on individual, communities and society, and how historical, cultural, social and philosophical factors impact on and shape beliefs.	Contextualise, analyse and evaluate how beliefs impact on, shape and change individual lives, communities and society, and how historical, cultural, social and philosophical factors impact on and shape beliefs.

Appendix 3: Glossary

EYFS	Early Years Foundation Stage
Enquiry-based approach	An approach which advocates skills such as investigation, interpretation, analysis, evaluation and reflection. Learning that inspires children to think for themselves and brings a research-orientated approach to the subject.
Discipline	This is defined in detail on p.8 of the syllabus. It has an intellectual tradition and defined body of knowledge with a particular object of investigation
Epistemological	Relating to the nature of knowledge
Ontological	Relating to existence and being
Phenomenological	Relating to phenomena or the object of a person's perception
Religious education (RE)	Curriculum subject legally required to be taught in all maintained schools and academies and free schools as part of the basic curriculum
Religious literacy	In this syllabus being religiously literate means being able to hold balanced and informed conversations about religion and worldviews
Worldview	How someone makes sense of the world in which they live and the impact this has on their daily life. This term refers to both religious and non-religious worldviews.

Appendix 4: RE for pupils with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND)

RE must be taught to all registered pupils, except those withdrawn by their parents. In maintained special schools, RE should be taught according to the Agreed Syllabus as far as is practicable. The following points may help teachers to modify the curriculum so that is relevant and appropriately challenging for all pupils:

- choose core questions and knowledge from earlier key stages, whilst being aware of age, appropriateness and progression
- focus on one disciplinary lens across a year group, whilst ensuring a balance across a Key Stage
- integrating, for all pupils in the early stages of learning, RE with other subjects and everyday experiences
- prioritising first-hand encounters with members of faith and belief communities

For pupils with special educational needs and disabilities, RE provides opportunities for colourful sensory experiences. The subject offers an experience of the world which can speak to pupils directly. Many pupils with special needs are instinctive and intuitive individuals who may have deep spiritual insights and experiential moments which provide opportunities for discussion.
